In its final report, the Director of the Commission on Budget Review (CBRC) has noted the significant importance of leadership in the development of a national and regional education and training system. The Commission has recommended that the Board consider the effectiveness of the national and regional education system in the coming school year.

Staff have developed a preliminary agenda and timeline for a Board of Education in April and July. On August 1, the Board invited members of the general public and school community to provide feedback on their consideration of the national and regional education system. The Board will continue to engage a wide range of stakeholders in the coming months.
