

OVERVIEW OF IMPLEMENTATION PLANS
OCTOBER 14, 2017

Slated to be implemented in 2018, the goal of the plan is to provide families in North and Northeast Portland with appropriately-sized schools to ensure all students have access to quality academic programs. For a complete description of the proposed changes, including maps of the new boundary areas and projected school-level impacts, see the full proposal on the PPS website.

The proposed plan will:

- Create two new middle schools (Harriet Tubman and Roseway Heights)
- Convert existing K-8 schools to K-5 schools (Boise-Eliot/Humboldt, Irvington, Lee, MLK Jr., Sabin, Scott, and Vestal)
- Convert one K-8 to a 6-8 (Roseway Heights K-8)
- Create one new K-5 school (Rose City Park Elementary)
- Modify existing elementary, middle, and high school boundaries (Alameda Elementary, Beverly Cleary K-8, Beaumont Middle, Grant High, and Madison High)
- Relocate focus option programs (Dual language immersion programs)

CLUSTER 1:

Harriet Tubman Middle School (grades 6-8)

Feeder schools :

- Boise-Eliot/Humboldt Elementary School (K-5)
- Irvington Elementary School (K-5)
- Martin Luther King Jr. Elementary School (K-5)
- Sabin Elementary School (K-5)

CLUSTER 2:

Roseway Heights Middle School (grades 6-8)

Feeder schools :

- Rose City Park Elementary School (K-5)
- Lee Elementary School (K-5)
- Scott Elementary School (K-5)
- Vestal Elementary School (K-5)

Creating new middle school clusters helps address the related problems of under-enrollment and over-utilization. Schools are under-enrolled if they have so few students that they need extra funding to offer the core academic program across all grade levels, limiting the range of available elective courses. Over-utilized schools have enrollments that require more classes for academic programming than there are classrooms available in the building. The proposed plan will create right-sized schools with enough students to fund enough teachers to offer strong academic programs, in buildings with enough instructional space.
